

Josh Lowe

The only thing that Josh values more than his commitment to safety and quality is building relationships. He has an easy rapport with his team, subcontractors, clients and consultants. Starting his career in bricklaying, he has built his career from the ground up, seeking out further education opportunities and utilising his skills to adapt to and solve the problems that inevitably arise throughout the course of a project

Josh is a reliable team member. He is well versed in working in live environments, managing the needs and expectations of clients and balancing site coordination to suit.
